Appeal filed against Non-Violence School, Hearing will be set

Vivian Pastore, of West Carmel Valley Road, has filed an appeal against the decision rendered by the County Planning Commission to grant a use permit to the Joan Baez Institute for the Study of Non-Violence. The appeal was received by the office of the Board of Supervisors by registered letter too late Monday afternoon to be placed on this week's agenda. However, it will appear on the agenda for the November 9 Supervisor's meeting to set for a hearing, according to the Supervisor's secretary. The hearing would probably be set at that time for the last Tuesday in November.

In the meantime, the school expects to begin classes and seminars today in the old Tularcitos School building on East Carmel Valley Road. Holly Chenerey, secretary of the Institute, told the Outlook Monday night that they had taken possession of the property that day and planned to begin operations on the afternoon of November 3.

According to Mrs. Gerry Petkus, whose home is directly across the street from the school property, the traffic pattern of that part of the Valley Road has changed considerably since the decision by the Planning Commission last week. Previously she likened the straight stretch to a "drag strip." Now, she says, cars with curious viewers slow down to 10 miles an hour as they stare at the Baez property.

Mrs. Petkus, who appeared in protest before the Planning Commission hearing, last Wednesday, said that she had no plans to file an additional appeal at this time. All appeals must be filed within 10 days of the decision.

Outlook interview with Mrs. Pastore

Mrs. Joe (Vivian) Pastore, when contacted by the Outlook, verified the fact that she had filed an appeal with the Board of Supervisors against the Plan-Com decision on the Baez School. (Mr. and Mrs. Pastore are owners of the Hide-a-Way Motel on West Carmel Valley Road).

When asked her basis for filing she replied, "I feel in view of what is going on in Viet Nam, coupled with the number of people on the Peninsula who have lost sons and husbands over there, that this is scarcely the time to start a school for non-violence here. A school for non-violence would do more good in Peking or Moscow."

She further stated that she felt it was extremely detrimental to the morale of the boys who are fighting in Viet Nam, who hear broadcasts over Hanoi radio informing them of the demonstrations carried on in this country.

In conclusion, Mrs. Pastore said, "I think Miss Baez is sincere in her desires, but I feel she is being used by Reds. She is very young and I think her name is being exploited."

$275 collected by CV UNICEF, party followed

UNICEF collections in Carmel Valley have reached the $275 mark according to Dr. Ann Nowell, chairman. Valley children accompanied by a few friends from Pacific Grove and a trio of Carmel high school girls who wished their contributions counted toward the Valley collection, canvassed the residential areas on Friday evening between the hours of 4 to 6 p.m.

Following the collection, the participating youngsters were treated to an old fashioned Halloween party in the original White Oaks Barn behind the Post Office. The building was donated for the party use by owner Marion Wilson.

150 children the affair in an atmosphere of spooks and ghosts. The barn was marvelously decorated by Peter Hopkins, Martha Senger and Pru Ducich with huge cobwebs made of cheesecloth and a ghost that floated out over the audience.

In addition to games and refreshments and a contest for costumes, there was wonderful entertainment by dancers and singers for the assembled crowd.

Winners in the costume contest were John Gardner, first; Patty Ray, second; Helena Bresk, third; Kevin Bixby, fourth; and Michael McFadden, fifth.

Valley clean-up Nov. 6

The roadside clean-up and beautification campaign which is being sparked by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association with the cooperation of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce is underway this week. Aroused by this careless littering of the Valley roads and scenic areas to include the Carmel River banks, public spirited citizens have obtained the backing of the above associations in the promotion of a "Do It Yourself" program to clean up the Valley. The CVPOA organizing has been accomplished by a committee selected and chaired by Mrs. Robert T. Jones who was named by the CVPOA President Col Step Tynner.

The plan is a simple one and calls on every resident of the Valley to assist in removing litter from the roadsides, river banks and key areas which by their scenic appeal, attract picnickers and recreation groups. With the customary carelessness of the American public the end result is the widespread discard of beer cans, soft drink containers, candy wrappers, papers and trash. Some folks even bring their weeks

Kids and parents pack carnival

The now-traditional Halloween Carnival given Saturday by the Tularcitos Parents Club grossed $735, according to Mrs. John Simpson, co-chairman of the event. Expenses are estimated at approximately $175.

An estimated 700 children and adults milled about the upper level playground and through the many booths set up in the multipurpose room and around the periphery of the crowded main dining room following a rousing round of applause for Senator George

(Outlook Staff Photos)

Over 500 people jammed three rooms of the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club last Thursday for the $50-a-plate Republican fund raising dinner. They heard U.S. Senator George Murphy state, "The only reason to have a Republican party is to elect Republicans!" He further admonished them to put away petty disagreements... "keep your eye on the main problem. We cannot let it go to a one party country."

He added, likening the present situation to a dictatorship, saying, "Sometimes I think we will have a one-man party!"

He further spoke to the assembled diners on the Beautification Bill, the war on poverty, the Viet Nam war, the bracero program and the gubernatorial election, saying that we would endorse no candidate, but would support wholeheartedly whom-ever was chosen.

Among Valleyites attending the fund raising dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Toley Doud, Jim Large, Mrs. Elsie Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crispo, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fields, Dr. Joseph Noto, Louis Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Frazer.

Valley residents urged to join cleanup campaign

collection of garbage with them and leave without it.

WHAT TO DO AND WHERE

Every resident is urged to make a special effort to clear the roadside areas in front of their respective properties and to assist in neighborhood clean-up of public areas. Trash so collected should be placed in boxes, gunny sacks, or other disposable containers for placing in the collection areas listed below. The Camp Fire Girls and Cub Scouts have volunteered to "Police up" the Village. Volunteers are needed to clean up trash along the River from Robles del Rio Bridge to the Saddle Club Crossing. Youngsters who will give their help may have reason not to regret it. They are asked to assemble at the Robles del Rio Bridge with Bag Lunches at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, November 6th. The group will work upstream to the Trail and Saddle Club where they will picnic. (Don't forget the bag lunch)

SATURDAY NOV 6th IS PICK-UP DAY

The Carmel Valley Disposal Service Inc have generously agreed to provide a truck for the pick-up of the results of the cleanup campaign. However, they can only handle the accumulation of trash resulting from the clean-up of the roadside and public areas mentioned in this article. All persons are requested not to bring personal trash to collection points. To do so would completely swamp the project. All workers are requested to bring their accumulations, which must be in bags, paper boxes, gunny sacks or similar containers to prevent contents from being scattered around at the collection points, to one of the following NOT LATER THAN 1 PM, SATURDAY NOVEMBER 6th; (All points are junctions with Carmel Valley Road) Robles Road, Delfino Place, Ford Road, Laurel Drive, Country Club

Drive, Rancho Road, Farm Center, Carmelo School, Walters Market, Canada Way, Carmel Jr. High School, Carmel Knolls Drive. Volunteers will be requested to 'man' these collection points from 10 to 1 on Saturday. CVPOA President Tyner asked that 'If you are called to give a hand, please do so. It will take but a small effort on your part to make the campaign a success.'

Information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Jones at 659-2889.

Carmelo Parent's Club meets Nov. 9

The Carmelo School Parent's Club will meet at the school on Tuesday, November 9th at 8:00 p.m. and will have as their guest speaker, Miss Doris Gates, well known Carmel writer of children's books.

Miss Gates, a former teacher and librarian, is probably best known for her book, "Blue Willow," which was written in 1940 and described the life of a young girl whose parent's were migratory workers in the Fresno area. Miss Gates has written many other popular children's books and has won the William Allen White award.

Refreshments will be provided by room mothers.

CV Women's Club meeting on grooming

The regular meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club will be held at the Community Center at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 3. Mrs. Ogawa from the Golden Charm, located in Carmel Rancho Shopping Center will speak on the topic "Make-up and Personal Appearance."

Mrs. Don Laird is the program chairman for the meeting. Coffee and doughnuts will be served in Halloween tradition.

Art Association elects four new active members

Four new members of the Carmel Art Association were chosen Monday night at a special meeting of the board of directors.

Nancy Johnson, Y.S. Kim and Keith Lindberg, all of Carmel, and Eric Hitchcock of Salinas were chosen as active artist members after submitting work to the board in application for membership.

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR - I noticed with interest that the founders of the School for the Study of Non-Violence hurried to engage a lawyer to appear before the Planning Commission to defend their rights before the law. At the same time, they encouraged young people to break the law when it suits their purpose. What kind of double standard is this?

I look with suspicion on those who hasten to assert their rights but are slow to assume their responsibilities.

Yours sincerely,
Pauline S. Sinclair

The Editor -- Hurrah for Miss Wright at Carmel High School. It's about time someone set standards of appropriate dress for our students. I wish she'd take the boys under her surveillance, too!

More power to her!

Children's Book Week, celebrated all over the nation, occurs this year from October 31 to November 7, and is now in its 47th year. This fall the slogan is "Sing Out For Books," which lends itself not only to the best of young people's books, but also to song books.

The purpose is to call attention to the best books for all ages. Out of some 2000 young people's books published in America this year, it is impossible to cover them all. Many are mediocre--some are outstanding--therefore book reviewers, libraries, schools, and communities throughout the United States help by calling attention to good text and good illustration. Libraries have book fairs, and many show original illustrations of current books, others have TV and radio broadcasts to discuss the latest books, and some interview authors. The largest city newspapers devote whole sections just to Children's Book Week.

Young people and their parents should visit their local libraries at this time, for every child should have the privilege of seeing and selecting the books of his choice. It is not the number of books that a child takes out, or possesses, but the selectivity that counts!

'Sing Out For Books' theme for Children's Book Week

Reviews by Ragnhild C. Williams

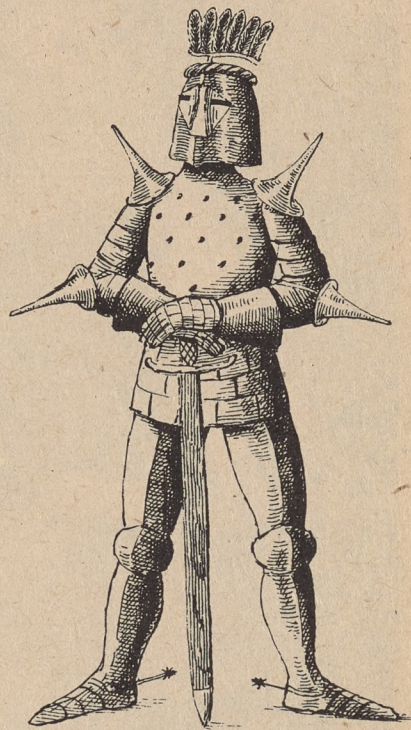

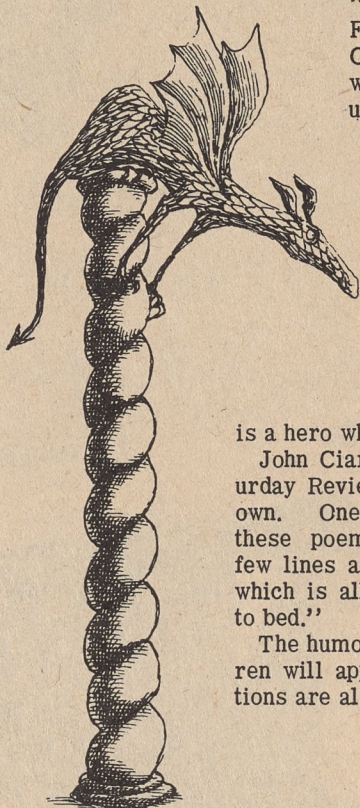

"The King Who Saved Himself From Being Saved," by John Ciardi, with drawings by Edward Gorey (Lippincott, 5 and up, $2.95)

This is one of the most recent poetry books for the young, and it is most amusing. Everything is "upside down." The king and his family are perfectly happy, and don't need to be saved. Strangely, it is a hero who upsets everything.

John Ciardi, poetry editor of the Saturday Review, has young children of his own. One can imagine that he wrote these poems for them first. The last few lines are: "In fact, I wasn't saved--which is all the saving I'm for--And so to bed."

The humor is delicious, and older children will appreciate it, too. The illustrations are also full of humor.

"The Moon and a Star," by Myra Cohn Livingston, illustrated by Judith Shahn (Harcourt Brace and World, ages 5-9, $2.50)

It is perfectly fitting to start a list of books for young children with poetry, for their earliest introduction to books is usually through the well-known nursery rhymes.

The poems in this book speak directly to children, for they have a sense of words and rhythm that is part of childhood. "The Moon and a Star" that seem to follow the highway and a car, the poem about kites, roller-skates, and the squirrel that goes "up and scamper-skip, tail in the sky," and the charming prayer at the end thanking for the sun, the sky, and the green grass --are all thoughts that occur to the very young. The illustrations are also childlike and very appropriate.

"Hide and Seek Fog," by Alvin Tresselt, illustrated by Roger Duvoisin (Lothrop, ages 5-9, $3.50)

This is a book that is particularly adapted to this region. Through the illustrations and the text it gives a wonderful feeling of the fog --so characteristic of the coastal area of California. The text is simple, but covers all phases of life along the seashore. Because of its unusual illustrations, it was a runner-up for one of this year's awards.

"A Book of Good Tidings," collected by Joan Anglund, illustrated by the author (Harcourt Brace and World, all ages, $1.95)

After books of nursery rhymes and poetry, children love little books that they can carry around.

The author, who has written, "A Friend Is Someone Who Likes You," and several others, has written a tiny book, well selected and beautifully illustrated. But it would have to be read to a small child, as the print is fine. A small child, however, would carry it around or put it under his pillow at night. It is a charming addition to the very small books.

"Anatole and the Poodle," by Eve Titus, illustrated by Paul Galdone (Whittlesey House, ages 4-8, $2.75)

Another of Eve Titus' amusing books about Anatole, the mouse, with the characteristic blue, white and red illustrations of the French tricolor by Paul Galdone. It is an exciting tale to read aloud, or to oneself. The illustrations are full of whimsy and humor -- just right for the well-known stories about Anatole.

All children love animals, and are especially familiar with the animals at the neighboring zoo. The book deals purely with birds; but it is quite comprehensive (it starts with the crow and ends with the eagle), and even from the colorful illustrations quite a young child would recognize the characteristics of various birds. The book tells about "dancing" cranes, flamingos that build mud castles, other birds playing water polo, and acting like acrobats. If a child has read this book beforehand, he will have an idea of what to look for when he goes to the zoo. "Lito and the Clown," written and illustrated by Leo Politi (Scribner's, ages 4-8, $3.25).

Every young person loves the books by Leo Politi. The setting for this story is Mexico and a Mexican carnival. All Spanish speaking young people love carnivals. But poor Lito couldn't be entirely happy, because he had lost his favorite playmate -- a little kitten. Payaco, the clown, on his stilts, is the one who makes a family happy again.

As always, delightful and vivid illustrations.

"Mr. Picklepaw's Popcorn," by Ruth Adams, illustrated by Kurt Werth (Lothrop, Lee and Shepard, ages 5-9, $2.95).

By all means one of the funniest "tall" tales for young children that we have read in a long time! The illustrations match the story both in humor and nonsense, and are exceedingly well done. We highly recommend this book for any child who loves to laugh!

"The Book of Ponies," by Suzanne Wilding, illustrated by Wesley Dennis (St. Martin's ages 6-12, $4.95).

This is a quite different "horse" book from "The Wonderful One-Hoss Shay." The author, a well-known Junior Judge of the American Horse Show Association, explains the origin of the various breeds of ponies from all over the world, including the now famous "Misty" of Chincoteague.

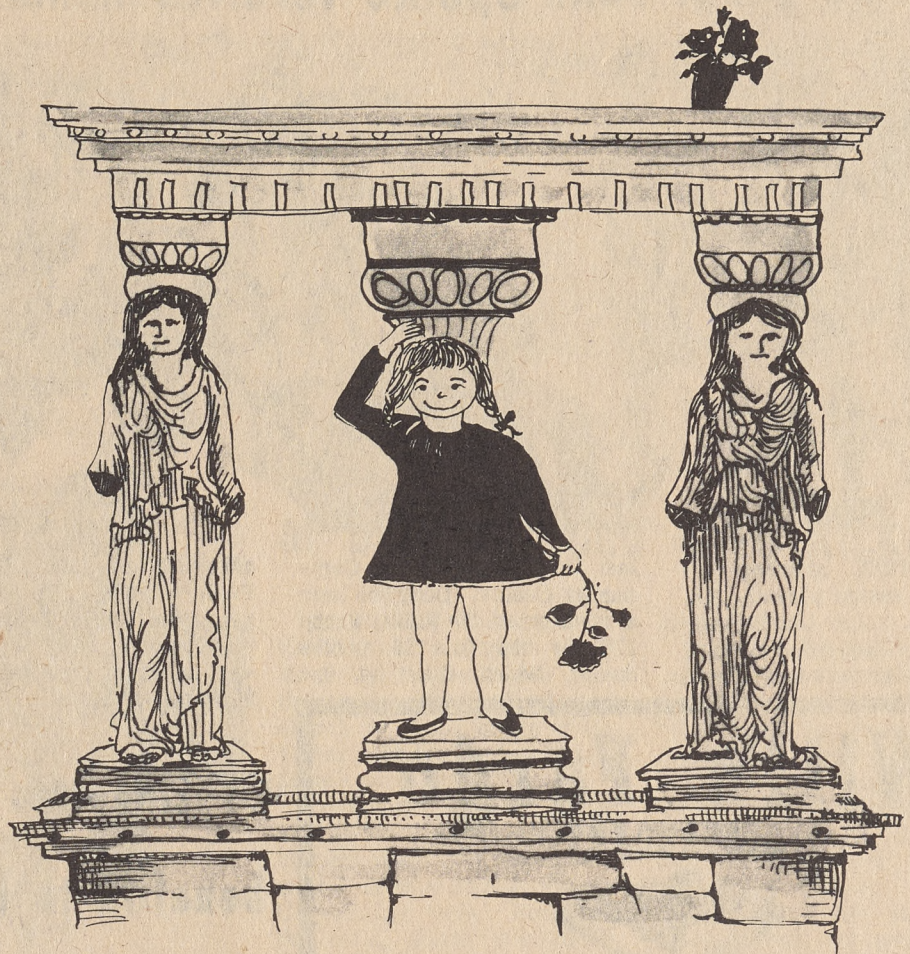

Wesley Dennis needs no introduction, for he is well-loved for his beautiful and faithful illustrations of horses.

"Mr. Jensen and Cat," by Lenore Blegvad, illustrations by Erik Blegvad (Harcourt, Brace and World, ages 6-9, $2.95).

This is another book for young children that we can heartily recommend. No only is the story interesting, but it gives a true background of Copenhagen, which we cannot say for a number of books with foreign setting. Erik Blegvad is already known to a number of American children, especially for his illustrations. He is Danish, and in this story he captures many of the scenes of his native city, both in color and black and white, with humor and authenticity. The book is one that children will want to look at, and read, again and again.

"The Journey of Bangwell Putt," written and illustrated by Mariana (Lothrop, Lee and Shephard, all ages, $3.50).

A book for the very young (if it is shown and read to them), but also a collector's item for those who are older. The Story of Bangwell Putt was first published in a limited edition, hand-lettered and hand-colored. In this new edition it retains these same characteristics. It concerns an old museum doll, and other tiny characters who live in museums. The colors are beautifully reproduced, the hand-lettering is still retained, and make this one of Marina's most distinguished books. All of the characters, including chairs, rugs, painted chests, are reproduced from actual museums. But the story itself is full of fantasy and imagination, and will surely appeal to young readers.

"My Little Cabbage," (Mon Petit Chou), written and illustrated by Susan Purdy (St. Martin's Press, ages 5-8, $2.75).

Many American children have foreign parents who address them by various endearing names. This story starts out with a French mother, who calls her son "mon petit chou." From French parents, it goes on the Swedish, Russian, Greek, Egyptian -- and other parents -- and their favorite sayings. The approximate pronunciation is under each saying. This is an original book, and will stimulate learning foreign words.

For boys and girls who like the sea, good seamanship and excitement, we must mention the new cadet edition of C.S. Forester's "Hornblower Stories." There are four volumes: "Hornblower Goes to Sea," "Hornblower Takes Command," "Hornblower in Captivity," and "Hornblower Triumph," selected by G.P. Griggs illustrated by Geoffrey Whitlam, (Little, Brown, ages 10 up, $2.95 a volume).

"Doctor's Boy," by Karin Ankarsvardt, translated from the Swedish by Annabelle MacMillan, illustrated by Fermin Rocker (Harcourt Brace and World, ages 9-12, $3.25).

Excellent background and details of the life of a Swedish doctor, and his son Jon, in the horse and buggy days. We get a true picture of the life of a family doctor, and the characters are memorable. This book won the Nils Holgersson Award in 1963.

Two excellent teen-age mystery novels are: "Masquerade at Sea House," by Elisabeth Ogilvie (McGraw-Hill, older, $3.50); and "One By Sea," by Scott Corbett, illustrated by Victor Mays (Little, Brown, ages 10-14, $3.75).

Eagle Scout John Updike receives honors

DOUG UPDIKE, standing between his seated parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Updike, received the Eagle Scout award at impressive ceremonies held last Monday night at the Community Center. Doug has been a member of the Valley Troop 127 for the past 16 months during which time he has achieved his Star Life and Eagle awards. The fourteen year old youth was only a first class scout when he started working under the direction of Scoutmaster Bob Ray.

Dr. Zelma George to give lectures at MPC Nov. 4 and 5

Dr. Zelma George, sociologist, humanitarian, actress-singer and recognized authority on Negro music, will be on the Monterey Peninsula College campus Nov. 4 and 5 as Danforth visiting lecturer-in-residence and second speaker in MPC's "Roots of Prejudice" series.

Tomorrow, she will address students, faculty and the interested public on "The You in the UN" at 1 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall.

Friday morning at 10, she will appear at the "coffee hour" in the student union. At 1 p.m. in the Music Hall, she will give a lecture-recital on "Understanding the Negro Spiritual." The public is invited to attend both events without charge.

Friday evening at 8 in the Armory, she will lecture on "The Negro: Problems, Goals, Methods." Only for this final lecture will free tickets be required. They will be available to a limit of two at the MPC administration building switchboard.

Dr. George graduated from high school in Topeka, Kans., attended Chicago Business College, received a bachelor's degree in sociology at the University of Chicago and did graduate work there in social service administration. She received an M.A. in personnel administration at New York University and did work toward a doctorate at the University of Southern California. Her doctorate in sociology (intercultural relations) was received from New York University, her dissertation being "A Guide to Negro Music."

She is a graduate in voice of the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago and has studied pipe organ at Northwestern.

The appointment of Dr. George to the U.S. Delegation to the 15th General Assembly of the United Nations in 1960 was preceded by other services to the government. In 1958, she was appointed to the President's Committee to plan the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth. Among her many awards is the Dag Hammarskjold Award for "distinguished service in the cause of world peace through world law."

CV wins acclaim again in Red Feather Drive

For the second week Carmel Valley residential chairman, Mrs. Mark Hattan received the Magyar Mug for attaining the largest percentage of the United Fund Campaign goal. At the report meeting of Community Chest leaders held at Neptune's Table, Carmel Valley reported a total of $9,136 donated to date which is 67% of their quota set at $13,600.

Mrs. Mark Hattan and Valley vice-chairman Mrs. Robert Harris of Lower Valley, Mrs. John Woods of Robles Del Rio and Mrs. Rex Pryer of the Upper Valley extend an invitation to all of the Red Feather Volunteer workers to attend "a Thank you Tea" November 3 at 3:00 p.m. at the home of residential chairman of the Monterey Peninsula, Mrs. Mark Thomas, 17 Scarlett Road.

Woman injured in CV smashup

A first aid squad of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department was called to transport Jane Cartwright to a local physician's office for treatment after she lost control of her car on Flight Road. The call was made at 4:26 p.m. October 21.

Mrs. Mal Taveres, a medical emergency call, was taken to the Community Hospital by the Red Cross ambulance October 27 at 6:00 p.m.

CV Lionettes plan benefits to buy Braille typewriter

Final plans were co-ordinated for the two projects whose proceeds will be used to purchase the Braille typewriter and case for the Department for Public Education for the Blind in Monterey. The Benefit Bake sale chairmaned by Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock will take place November 6 at the Talbott Building.

The Spaghetti Feed was held at the Saddle Mountain Ranch October 27, attended by 22 members of the Lion's Club. Preparing and serving the meal were Mmes. William Stowers, George Baker, Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock, Clyde Yeisley, and Milton Frumkin. The tables were decorated by Mrs. Robert Davis and Mrs. Mark Hattan with Mrs. Nick Skalyo in charge of libations. Mrs. Charles Gansel was chairman.

Rancho Del Monte Resort was chosen for the October meeting of the Carmel Valley Lionettes by Mrs. John Koon who served as hostess for the evening. The tables were decorated with a Halloween motif.

Guest speaker, Sgt. Major John Koon, gave a timely dissertation, illustrated with slides, and followed by a question and answer period on Viet Nam.

Guests introduced during the dinner were Mmes. John Darch, William Baker, Lee Ledford, and Henry Blatnik. Mrs. Nick Skalyo held the winning ticket for the door prize.

Fidelity Club plans meeting on November 4

The monthly meeting of the Fidelity Club will be held November 4 at 6:00 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

Leon Amyz, professor of Art History at Hartnell College in Salinas has chosen as his topic, "Marvelous Piles of Stone; Temples, Aqueducts, and Churches." The talk will be based on a recent year's study in Europe and will be illustrated with slides.

Anyone planning to attend who has not been contacted is asked to telephone Mrs. George Greer 659-2470. This will be the last meeting of the organization until January.

High fashions, dominos are Guild's projects

Models have begun rehearsing and choosing clothing for the Monterey County Symphony Guild Fashion Show and luncheon to be held Saturday, November 13, at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. The luncheon will begin at 12 noon and reservations may be made through Mrs. James Moore, 624-1183. Clothing will be from I. Magin's and Lakin's jewelry will be used to accessorize.

The Second Annual Domino Tournament, sponsored by the Guild, will be held the same day at the Casa Munras Hotel in Monterey. Play will begin at 11 a.m. and reservations may be made through Mrs. Richard Miller 372-2251.

Veteran's Day

carnival planned by

Women's Club

On the 11th of November the Carmel Woman's Club is having a fund raising Carnival which will be held at their clubhouse, San Carlos and Ninth Streets in Carmel. Since this is the day set apart in remembrance of Veterans of all Wars a portion of the proceeds are to be donated to be Disabled War Veterans of Monterey County.

The Carnival is open to everyone and consists of two parts - a Fair with gaily decorated booths to be held during the hours of ten to five o'clock at which time there will be a variety of merchandise for sale either handmade or donated by the Club members. There will be a special Christmas Table, a "Farmers' Market" and, for antique lovers, a collection of unusual antique buttons at the Antique booth. Gifts have also been generously donated by local merchants on the Peninsula and there will be raffles for these articles.

In the evening, beginning at 6:30 p.m. a buffet supper will be served followed by "Olio" entertainment by the Players of the First Theatre who, also, are giving of their time and talent in this worthy endeavour.

Mrs. Alexander W. Cleary, Club President, is being assisted by Major Frances Ewing, USA (ret), Ways and Means Chairman and Mrs. Rhea Dively Program Chairman, in this project.

Community Church plans viewed at building fund drive kickoff

The Building Fund Drive for the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula will start this month. The site for the new church is at the mouth of the Valley near the Carmel Middle School.

Architect Walter Burde showed the proposed site development plans at a dinner held in All Saint's Parish Hall in Carmel last week. Following the meal, slides illustrating the preliminary design for the church facilities, scheduled to be completed next year, were shown. A model of the plan for the entire property was also displayed.

Director of the Building Fund campaign, Charles Herschleb, told the assembled audience of the general plans developed for reaching the fund goals. Leo F. Miller who is chairman of the building fund committee introduced Carl J. Bosholm, chairman of the teams who will work in the campaign.

The Church site was dedicated recently and members of the congregation held a ground breaking and blessing ceremony on the land. A cross was planted, indicating the location of the new building.

Middle School science class finds lots to study on trip to Carmel River

Fashion & Design School helps housewives be glamor gals

"I dreamed I wore an original Dior gown...and I DID... I made it myself!" This fantasy has come true for several women attending the new fashion design and dressmaking course offered at the Carmel

School of Fashion & Design. The course is taught by Madeline Duggar, whose husband Ben graduated from Carmel's Sunset School when it was just a two-room school house. According to Madeline, even if one has never sewn before, this course smooths out sewing details so that the student is soon completing dresses, suits or coats; and even creating patterns for styles in the latest magazines!

Two-hour classes are given morning, afternoon or evening, to suit the Valley housewife's free time, and reservations may be made by phoning 624-9306.

Homeroom mothers of Carmel Middle School helped the science department with its first series of field trips on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Laszol Toldi, Mrs. Richard Rodriguez and Mrs. Richard Bell assisted science teachers Al Kolb and Barry Lastinger in escorting 210 7th graders to the Carmel River mouth. The students made detailed inspections of the plant and animal life and geologic points of interest around the beach area.

These junior scientists have studied the methods used by scientists in solving problems. They have used these methods in collecting data and drawing conclusions in their classroom work on mealworms, snails, and pendulums.

The purpose of this trip was to discover other problems for research. Some of the areas of interest which has arisen are: animal life in the marsh area; differences in particle size among beach sands; the comparative salt content of the lagoon and the bay; rock composition and possible origin; and variety of marine life in the lagoon.

Through further research back in the classroom and in the library, students will arrive at possible explanations to these problems. The students will be reporting on their experiments daily in class until the end of this quarter, November 12.

School dedication and potluck supper at St. Dunstan's

The new St. Dunstan's Church School addition was dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Richard Millard, Suffragan Bishop of the California. The ceremony took place on November 3 at 6:30 p.m., prior to the Parish Potluck supper.

This is the first in a series of Potlucks designed to provide an opportunity for the parish families to get better acquainted. Those interested in attending should call the church office (624-6646 or 624-8663) to find out what to bring.

Outlook LEISURE TIMES

'Comedy of Errors' opens at Golden Bough on Friday

Carmel's Golden Bough Players will inaugurate the coming holiday season on Friday evening, November 5, with a production of William Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors". It will run on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through December 19. Curtain time is 8:30.

"The Comedy of Errors" is Shakespeare's earliest comedy, and a perennial favorite not only in its original version, but also as a book for opera and musical comedy. The most recent and successful of the many musical versions of the play was Rodgers and Hart's 1938 Broadway hit, "The Boys from Syracuse". The latter was also seen as a film, and has had New York and London revivals during the 1960's.

Shakespeare's play is a farce of mistaken identities, based on a Roman comedy, "The Twin Menaechmi", written by Plautus around 200 B.C. Shakespeare altered his original by adding to Plautus' pair of identical twins a second pair who are servants to the first. The result is a rollicking English comedy, although it is set in the Mediterranean port of Ephesus and the actors will wear masks similar to those used by Roman players in classical times.

Featured in the cast of "The Comedy of Errors" are Nick Zanides and Peter Kuehn as the handsome young twins separated since birth by a shipwreck, and Norman McPhee and Dick Bird as their equally indistinguishable bondservants. April Edwards plays the confused wife of one of the twins, and Jonne-Marie Feiten is cast as her pretty sister, bewildered by a proposal of marriage from a man she believes to be her brother-in-law. Fort Ord actor Horace Upshaw plays the Duke of Ephesus, and Regina Hicks makes her local debut as the long-lost mother of the noble twins. The large cast also includes Glenn Kovacevich, Robert Butts, Paul Feiten, Paul Chrostowski, Don Laird, Bill Isaacs, John Russell, Steve Smith, Katrin Stoney and Joan Swartz, with a special guest appearance of Ruth Crews in the early weeks of the run. Staging is by Frederick Rider, costuming by Jean Cahill.

Group bookings for school and club performances are now being taken by the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, producers of the play. The Circle Theatre is located on Casanova Street between 8th and 9th in Carmel. Phone reservations are accepted at 624-2669.

Piano concert Nov. 7 to benefit Beacon House

Mario Braggiotti, famous piano virtuoso-humorist, will perform Sunday, November seventh, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Boit Morse in Pebble Beach for the benefit of Beacon House.

The concert is being planned by Mrs. Palmer Beaudette of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Kenneth S. Walker of Pebble beach to assist in the maintenance of Beacon House, a rehabilitation center for alcoholics located at 468 Pine Street, Pacific Grove.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Walker - 624-1682, or Mrs. Beaudette - 659-4363.

Oistrakh concert will open Music Society season

Carmel Music Society concert series will open with the program on December 3 by violinist, Igor Oistrakh, according to president, Mrs. C.E. Welchner. The opening concert by Ezio Flagello which was to have been held on Saturday, October 9, had to be cancelled because illness prevented the Metropolitan opera star from making the trip to the West Coast.

Ticket holders are asked to keep their original tickets for the Flagello concert and they will be honored on April 2.

THE COMBINED MONTEREY Peninsula and Salinas Chapters of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. will present the first half of the program in "Harmony at Sunset," a Barber Shop Concert, at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel. The program will begin at 8:30 on Friday and Saturday nights, November 12 and 13. The two chapters last joined several years ago to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the founding of the national Barber Shop Singing organization. In next week's programs they will present an historical sketch of barber shop singing from the "good old days" to the present time.

Famous groups will appear at Quartet concert

The rich melodious sound of harmonizing will fill Sunset Auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights, November 12 and 13, when the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. (The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America Inc.) holds its annual show, "Harmony at Sunset."

In addition to the combined choruses of the Monterey and Salinas Chapters, there will be four barber shop quartets. "The Plus Fours," the local quartet including Buck Williams, lead; Gene Smith, tenor; Neil Keffer, baritone; and Leon Stutzman of Salinas, bass; will perform and will be joined by three guest groups.

The Golden Staters Quartet, International competition winners from Southern California, have appeared throughout the nation. The Ringers, a group from the San Francisco Bay area, was organized less than a year ago, but have participated in many concerts and musical events in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley. The third group is the Dotted Quarters which ranks among the best of the girl barber shop singers who are organized under the "Sweet Adelines."

Tickets run $2.50 for adults and are available at Abinante's, Holman's, Central Box Office, Carmel, Harhish Music Store, Carmel, and Thunderbird Book Store, Carmel Valley. All seats are on a first come, first served, basis.

Point Sur light keeps constant vigil for seafarers

Visitors are asked to walk, not drive, up a half mile of windy hill to reach Big Sur Lighthouse, but they find the view and the building itself well worth the hike.

A brightly polished brass plate informs them that the light-house lense was made in Paris 78 years ago. It was constructed by a family of skilled craftsmen and took from 2 to 3 years to make. It revolves around a 1,000 watt bulb, sending a 100,000 candle power flash every 15 seconds.

Whale oil or kerosene were originally used to beam the light and in those days the lense was turned by a hanging weight. Now lit by commercial electricity, the light owns an emergency generator to take care of power failures which occur about 12 times a year due to salt wind and water in the insulators.

No wrecks have piled upon the Point since the light has been in operation, but two disasters in 1879 illustrated only too well the need for the life-saving beam.

In that year the "City of Los Angeles" was wrecked with 150 lives lost. According to a newspaper account of the tragedy, it took a doctor three and a half hours to ride from Monterey to help survivors. The second wreck was the "S.S. Ventura" which cracked up on Big Sur to lose its cargo of linens and wagons which were salvaged by area ranchers.

Families of the men who maintained the light make up a community of 16 people who occupy the homes on the hillside beside the light, 362 feet above sea level.

Serving a term of duty of two years at Point Sur are Officer in Charge E.R. Mottola, B. M. C.; Second Engineer Charles Wigle; Seaman Gary Clingage, Seaman Dee Mitchell and Fireman James Skogan.

A MERE 1,000 WATT BULB is all it takes to deliver life-saving beams of light through the magnifying lense in Point Sur Lighthouse. The lense revolves around the bulb to flash 100,000 candle power every 15 seconds.

Photos by C. Edward Graves on display at MPC this month

"Beauty in Wilderness," a collection of 20 8x10 color prints of wilderness scenes by photographer-author C. Edward Graves of Carmel, will be on exhibition in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall from November 8 to 24, Richard Robinson, MPC biological sciences department chairman, has announced. Each print will be accompanied by a two- or three-sentence text from Graves' tape-recorded program, also called "Beauty in Wilderness."

C. Edward Graves, has been exploring the western wilderness with camera and notebook since his first trip to Glacier National Park in 1913. Since 1945, when he retired from a career as a college librarian, he has devoted most of his time to this work. From 1953 to 1958 he served as western representative of the National Parks Association. Since then he has been a free-lance writer, photographer and lecturer. This exhibition was developed with the advice of Ansel Adams, photographer and conservationist of Carmel.

The public may view the prints during MPC's regular library hours when the lecture hall is not being used by classes. The hours are 7:45 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Fridays; and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

St. Dunstan's Church School dedication set

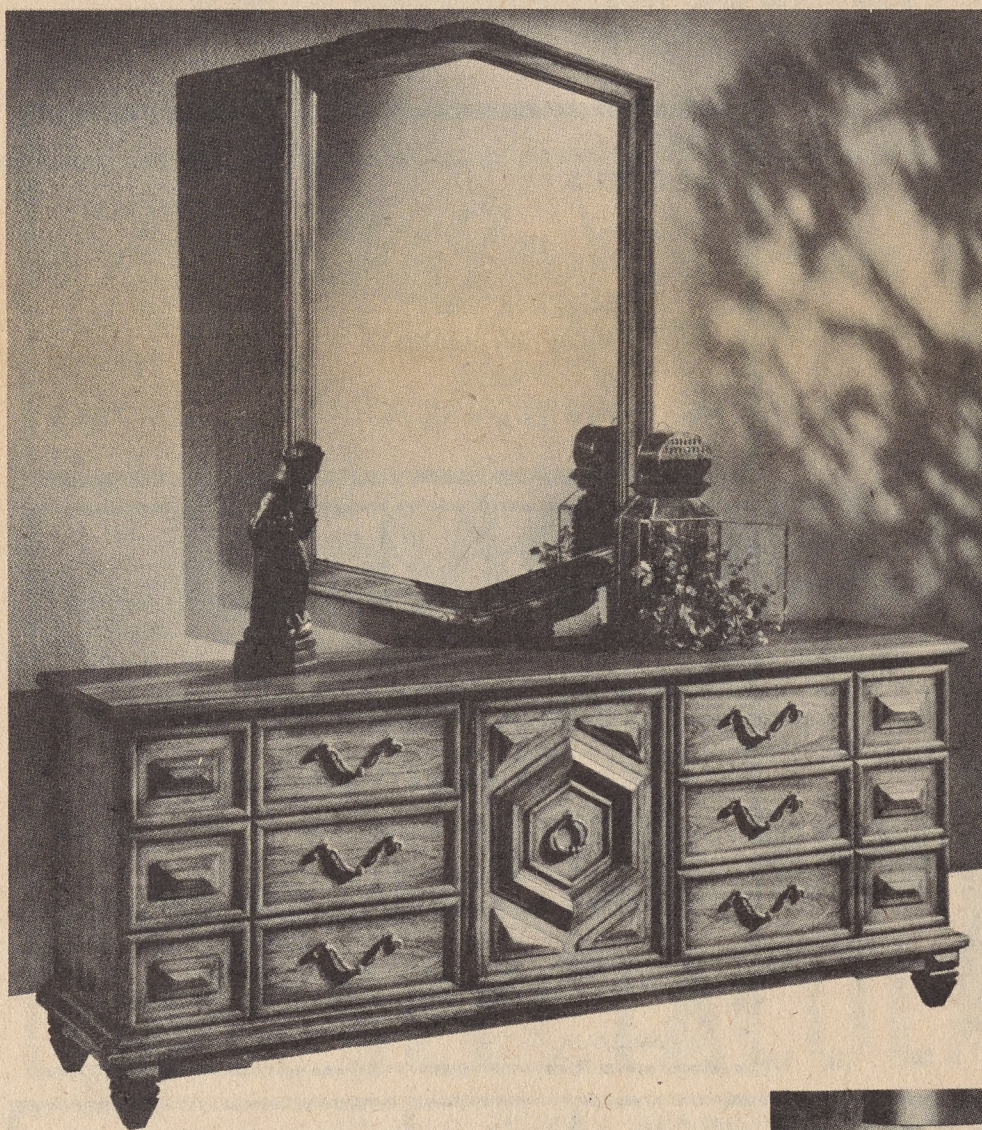

The Right Reverend Richard Millard, Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California will dedicate the new Church School addition of St. Dunstan's this evening. Bishop Millard, assistant to Bishop Pike, will not give a sermon at the dedication ceremony, but will speak informally at the pot-luck supper following.

The dedication service will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the all-parish pot-luck will follow in the new building. There will be a children's corner with small chairs and tables for the youngsters. Please call the church office, 624-8663, for information about what to bring.

The Church School building, designed by Carmel Valley architect, Mel Blevens, a member of the congregation, was completed on October 15. The building is situated east of the main church and is connected by an open corridor which allows access to the outdoor areas. It is easily converted to provide for classroom, assembly and dining activities by removal of folding partitions. An office and kitchen are also housed in the structure. Construction of natural redwood siding, the simple structure compliments the main church building.

THE RIGHT REVEREND RICHARD MILLARD will dedicate the new Sunday School building at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church on Robinson Canyon Road in Carmel Valley.

From the Riviera, where relaxed living is an art, come the continental influences that make Thomasville's new Madeira so beguiling. Textured pecan solids and veneers hit a new high in sophistication, with their handsome grayed-down Almond finish. New and provocative: Madeira's four painted finishes, available on selected pieces, that mix with the natural Almond finish or with other woods for added excitement. Design motifs are elegant in a smooth Spanish-French-Italian blend.

Added to all this are the charms of practicality... the pieces that "bunch" or go it alone, the fine construction and glorious fabrics in upholstered pieces.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cacti

By Mildred Hattan

Members and wives of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department enjoyed a Luau on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Weber, Deer Meadow Place. Two wild boar donated by Valley rancher, Patrick Berta, served as the main course and were cooked to perfection over night in a roasting pit under the watchful eye of Sam Corona. Helping to initiate the Webers' new patio were: Messrs. and Mmes. Chip Collins, Ray Danielson, William Conlan, George Palmer, Donald Laird, Michael Carter, Gregory Scherman, Donald Cummings, Larry Cummings, John Woods, John Anderson, Creston Crockett, Donald Corona, William Ijams, Milton Marquard, William Nelson, Louis Allaire, Mark Hattan, William Parham, Leo Weber, Arthur Harber, Orville Dutton and Sam Corona.

The Rancho Del Monte Country Club was the scene of the weekly meeting of the Carmel Valley Bridge Club held each Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m. Winners of the latest meet were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gravelle, first; Michael Antonich Sr. and Col. A. L. Friedenthal, second; Mrs. R.B. Stoney and Mrs. Robert E. Angell, third.

Jill Evans has arrived from Livermore, California to make her home with her aunt, Yuvawn St. Clair on Lower Circle, while attending classes at Monterey Peninsula College. Jill, who was formerly employed at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, is continuing in her field as a Biology major. Their house guest during the past week has been Yuvawn's mother, Mrs. Grace St. Clair who left Thursday for her home in Warm Springs.

Guests invited to attend the tenth birthday party of Mona Mehdy returned from an afternoon spent at the Community Swimming Pool to share a huge cake frosted in orange, punch and ice cream in a setting of Halloween decorations. Mona's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Salih Mehdy served the party fare at their home on Pilot Road to Ann Pomeroy, Heidi Hattan, Nancy Walker, Ross Mikeljohn, and Jameel Mehdy.

Receiving congratulations on his recent promotion to Sergeant is Robert E. Davis of West Carmel Valley Road. Bob, who has been a deputy with the Monterey County Sheriff's Department for thirteen years, was most recently attached to the Civil Division in Salinas. His new assignment is with the Monterey sub-station.

The group of Fifth Grade Camp Fire Girls led by Mrs. Arthur Harber completed their first project of the year with a successful bake sale held last Saturday. Card tables and wares were set up at the Valley post office at 10:00 a.m. and the girls happily announced a "sell-out" by noon.

Marie and Milt Frumkin welcomed their son, Milo, this week when he arrived home at the Saddle Mountain Ranch from training in the Armored Division of the National Guard at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Also spending the weekend at the Ranch was Mark King who spent the summer with the Frumkins and was on a holiday from classes at Santa Rosa City College.

The annual election of officers for the Central Coast Counties Fire Department took place last week at the dinner meeting held at King City. Among the newly elected officers was the Valley's Fire Chief, Chip Collins who will serve as Sergeant-at-arms. Other firemen attending the steak dinner were Mal Taveres, George Palmer, Gregg Scherman and Don Corona.

A Koffee Klatch honoring a new neighbor was co-hosted Tuesday morning by Mrs. Robert Davis and Mrs. John Woods when guests were invited to meet Mrs. Andrew Nottenkamper who has recently purchased a home at 21 Lower Circle. Attending were Mmes. Harry Bixby, Mike Carter, Joe Branco, Herbert Reuter, Carl Dietman, Fred Boehme, Gregg Scherman, Robert Staples and Mark Hattan.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ingram of Meadows Road have named their latest arrival, Christopher George. The baby who was born October 4, at the Community Hospital weighed 7# 11 oz. Christopher was delighted to discover that he had eight brothers and sisters waiting at home to give him a very warm welcome. These playmates include Marjorie (Tete), Billy, Jimmy, Paul, Bobby, Mary Beth, Patricia and Jackie. His grandmother is Mrs. Lilac R. Ingram of Pacific Grove and

All Saints' Episcopal Day School dedication services tonight

The All Saints' Episcopal Day School will hold an open house so that parents, friends and neighbors can inspect its new Carmel Valley Quarters Wednesday, November 3, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The affair is being timed to coincide with Episcopal Schools Week November 1 through 7, according to the Reverend Peter Farmer, headmaster of the elementary school which began its fifth year in September.

Mrs. Sidney Williams, Rancho Rio Vista, is coordinating plans with the help of the mothers' group, faculty and staff. Mrs. Samuel Hopkins, Carmel, is in charge of refreshments.

When the school, then called the Bishop Kip School, was opened in the Fall of 1961, 30 pupils were enrolled in kindergarten and first grade. Two years later, the school moved to the old Community Hospital Annex and expanded its curriculum to serve children through the sixth grade. The first building on the 7-acre Carmel Valley property was completed last May.

"We've moved 3 times since we started," the Reverend Peter Farmer, Headmaster commented this week. "But we're in permanent quarters now, and at the moment we're concentrating on expansion of our Library collection."

Enrollment at the school this fall is 92, including 28 children from Carmel, 24 from Pebble Beach, 18 from Monterey, nine from Carmel Valley, five each from Pacific Grove, and Seaside, two from Fort Ord, and one from Corral de Tierra.

Since the school began, 12 families have sent two children each, eight families have enrolled three youngsters each, and two families have sent four children each. "A number of pupils who are now in the fifth grades have been with us since we opened the school in 1961," Father Farmer said.

"Here we are not only concerned for the whole child," he added, "but also for his whole environment - material, intellectual, moral, emotional, and spiritual. We think of the teaching of the subject, religion, as a minor part of religious education. We believe the phrase, 'it is caught, not taught,' applies particularly to the teaching of religion."

Mrs. Rudd Brown will speak at Women's Demo Club

Carmel Women's Democratic Club will hold its final meeting of the year on Wednesday, November 10 at 12 noon, at the San Souci Restaurant in Carmel. Chairman of the meeting is Mrs. Robert Bussinger of Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Rudd Brown will be the featured speaker on the subject, "Recreation Planning." Mrs. Brown is the Chief of the California State Division of Recreation. She was appointed to the post by Governor Brown in 1964 after serving on the State Recreation Commission for four years.

Members will be contacted by the telephone committee for reservations. For further information please call Mrs. Bussinger at 659-4145.

Physical Fitness classes offered by Recreation Dept.

The Recreation Department of the Carmel Unified School District announces there is still room for men and women who wish to join their Physical Fitness and Body Building Exercise classes, as well as the Badminton class.

The Physical Fitness and Body Building class for men and women meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the Middle School Gymnasium from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The Body Conditioning Exercise Class for women is offered each Wednesday morning in the Carmel River School Cafeteria from 9:15 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. This class is designed to provide exercises for muscular and elastic tone and general organic tone of the body, as well as slimming and trimming of the problem areas of the body.

The Badminton class for men and women meets each Tuesday evening in the High School Gymnasium from 7:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

The purpose of this Physical Fitness program is to provide the opportunity for development of strength and endurance, coordination, flexibility and agility, and relaxation. Anyone interested is invited to attend these classes. There is no enrollment fee, and "free play" is offered after the classes, such as Volleyball, etc.

For further information please call the Recreation office 624-3342.

Community Hospital Auxiliary to elect slate of officers

Election of officers of the Auxiliary of the Community Hospital for the year 1966 will take place at a meeting for active members at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club on November 15th. A brief coffee period at 9:30 a.m. will be followed by the business meeting and election of officers at 10 o'clock, Mrs. William Byrnes, president, presiding.

Mr. Thomas Tonkin, Administrator of the Community Hospital, will speak on "The Exciting Future at Community Hospital", outlining plans for several interesting and important projects.

Quaint? Yes, we're quaint . . .

Even in a community noted for quaintness, we think we are quaint. For instance, we are quaint enough (perhaps old-fashioned is the word) to feel a sense of responsibility to our customers and to the people who send them to us. This is our —

'Holiday Foods & Fancies' plans ready for Nov. 4 luncheon

A Countess De Stefano knit suit, from Florence, Italy, has been given by Growers Insurance Company of Salinas as a prize at the Carmel Valley Women's Club "Holiday Foods and Fancies" luncheon party. Mr. Mark Field, owner of the company has donated the outfit which will be chosen in whatever color and size the lucky winner may desire.

Mrs. Field is president of the Women's Club and chairman of the planning committee for the November 4 luncheon and lecture party to be held at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Other chairman are: Mrs. Richard Hall, hostesses; Mrs.

Thomas Waters, prizes; Mrs. Ruth Dodds, tickets; Mrs. George Clifford, typing; Mrs. Lorraine Ruprecht, invitations and posters; and Mrs. Rex Pryer, mailing.

According to Mrs. Arthur Dresser, who is handling publicity, reservations have been pouring in from the Bay area as well as Santa Cruz, Salinas and the entire Peninsula.

The program of decorations, menus and holiday ideas presented by Virginia Stanton, in addition to the tour of her home decorated in holiday garb, comes at a most opportune time for hostesses who are beginning to think of entertaining over the Holiday Season.

OPEN MONDAY THRU SATURDAY 9:30 to 5:30
OR BY APPOINTMENT Carmel Valley Village

CARMEL VALLEY'S "COWBOY BOB," Bob Ford has always held a fascinated audience for his horse tales. The children of Robles del Rio miss their visits with him on the bench in front of Rosie's Cracker Barrel. Since he has been staying at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital the girls from the Junior Mint program enjoy his anecdotes. Taffe Thomas (left) and Karen Gregg (right), will be among the Junior Mint hostesses at an open house held at the hospital on Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Convalescent Hospital slates open house

Carmel Convalescent Hospital will hold an open house on November 7 with the Junior Mints, girl volunteer helpers, acting as hostesses. Parents of the girls and all interested persons are invited to attend from 3 to 5 p.m. on next Sunday.

Mrs. Edward Austing is the adult advisor for the Junior Mint program, which was organized in July, 1965. The girls who volunteer their time for hospital work are interviewed by Mrs. Austing who determines their desired and abilities. An orientation program is carried on under the direction of Mrs. Ritchie Patterson. The girls are never permitted actual nursing duties, but work under the supervision of a nurse in many useful ways during the hours from 4 to 6 p.m.

Among the various duties of the Junior Mint girls volunteers are visiting with patients, passing trays, helping to position patients for comfort, and any other courtesies and services which patients may require.

Girls who are presently engaged in the Junior Mint program are: Karen Gregg, Sherry Thomas, Tomi France, Susan Allaman, Taffe Thomas, Valerie Richards, Chirs Morrice, Amanda Lawford, Dee Kelsey, Debbie Gaskell, Chris Parga, Kit Hawkins, Karen Austing, Sherri Stuart, Diane Hawkins, Linda Shelton, Mari Arnold and Donna Maning.

CV Fire Dept. calls

Members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department were called to the George McMahan ranch on Rancho Fiesta to control a fire involving 30 tons of hay. The cause is still under investigation and it was not determined how much of the hay could be salvaged since hay bales had to be broken open. The call was received at 9:35 p.m. October 25. Twenty four firemen and five trucks battled the blaze until 11:40.

play area. The two spook houses did a land office business with constant waiting lines.

The costume parade showed a fantastic and frightening degree of originality in costumes produced.

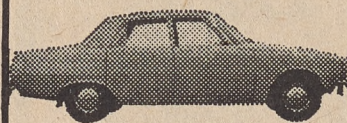

The Carnivals for the past two years have been so original, well planned and well attended that Carmel Valley almost forgotten what it was like on "Trick or Treat night." Most children did little doorbell ringing except in their immediate neighborhood.

Sunday program

Don't forget the children's Little Lyric Theatre production of "King Arthur and the Saxons" at Tantomount Theatre. Two performances on Sunday, November 7, 2:30 and 8 p.m.

OUTLOOK READERS comment frequently on the excellent quality of the printing of Carmel Valley's community newspaper. Why not take further advantage of that quality?
